

WOOD SMITH HENNING & BERMAN LLP

Attorney Bio

Keith Bostwick is a senior associate attorney in WSHB's New Jersey office. His practice focuses primarily in civil litigation defense, specializing in the areas of transportation liability, professional liability, products liability, premises liability, employment litigation, complex construction defect litigation, and insurance coverage disputes. Keith has extensive experience involving all types of transportation cases, including those involving large commercial vehicles and automobiles utilizing ride-sharing platforms. His clients have included New Jersey's largest employer, New Jersey's largest auto insurer, the world's largest smartphone manufacturer, and one of the world's largest ride-share transportation network companies.

Keith attended Rutgers School of Law—Newark and obtained his J.D. in 2015. During law school, he served as judicial intern to the Hon. Bonnie J. Mizdol, A.J.S.C. for the Superior Court of New Jersey, Bergen County and as student attorney for the Rutgers Child Advocacy Clinic representing under-privileged and abused and neglected children of the Greater Newark area. After graduating law school, Keith served as judicial law clerk to the Hon. Alvaro L. Iglesias, J.S.C. (Ret.) for the Superior Court of New Jersey, Hudson County. Since entering private practice, Keith has focused his practice primarily in civil litigation defense, first as an in-house trial attorney for New Jersey's largest auto insurer, as well as numerous nationwide litigation law firms. Keith is well-versed in all aspects of civil litigation in both state and federal court having tried numerous cases to jury verdict with excellent results for his clients.
