

CASE UPDATES

Decades of strategic case development and trial experience.

NEW CASE UPDATE - TVERBERG V. FILLNER CONSTRUCTION, INC.

6.28.10

Under the peculiar risk doctrine, a general contractor cannot be held vicariously liable for job site injuries suffered by an independent contractor, even if the independent contractor is not an employee and so is not entitled to receive workers compensation benefits for the injuries.

Link to PDF - New Case Update - Tverberg v. Fillner Construction, Inc

RELATED SERVICES

Construction